

ROOTS

by ANDY FYFE

FOGHORN LEGHORN NOT BEFORE TIME

SLAMMER

A London bluegrass band may sound like an oxymoron, but the many-tentacled Foghorn

Leghorn play with an elasticity and vim like they were born Appalachian. Breakneck dobro, mandolin, banjo and acoustic guitar bubble and burble as fiddle and harmonica saw and wheeze, while humour is never far from the lips of tracks such as Shut Your Face and Pizza Boy, the only bluegrass song ever written about London's kamikaze moped riders. ★★★★★

THE ONE TO BUY!

(if you like roots)